Dec 22, 2020 Version 20.4.30 * Improved login experience* Reduced fall rate* More VoiceOver support I still love this app, however the only thing I really like about the app got worse. It constantly asks you to log in. And what's worse, if you don't have WiFi or internet connection, you're out of luck. I mainly use my app to store TV shows that I've recorded so I can watch them whenever/wherever I want. Now, if I can't get internet or WiFi, I can't even get into the app to see what I saved!! The login should use have a memory so that you can have the ability to verify if you would like the phone to remember it. It should also be using facial recognition so you don't have to type it constantly into... And it should only require you to authenticate your service one billing cycle instead of each time you open the app!!! Also, developers may want to rethink where to put the ⏮⏭ the bottom of the iPhone that doesn't have a Home button. This makes it a clumsy experience. It could easily be fixed by moving them anywhere else, rather than where the digital home button resides. Please work on these items so I can give you the 5 stars it really deserves!!! If this problem happens frequently, the next time you're connected to the internet, sign out of the app and close the app completely. Once closed, open it again and sign in again. The old Dish Anywhere app Fantastic! I never had a problem with that, the interface was intuitive and the image was as good as when watching my TV. This 'new' app (not new anymore) is ridiculous. Whenever I want to use it there are problems: missing recordings, low quality video or programming that won't load at all - which I often simply simply to try. I spent 38 minutes on the phone with dish because I couldn't play any recording (black screen with pause bars in the middle). We solved this problem (yippee?) but the image is still horrible (badLy SD and jump) even though I'm three meters from my modem. I have no idea why Dish had to redesign/design the Anywhere app (to crack down on theft?). But to pay Dish customers this is a TOTAL step down from the previous version. And the few times I asked for technical help, I heard: We're working on it. Cool. When will it be done?!?! Because I'm sick of paying for Dish Anywhere and never being able to use it. Finally, the customer service representative I spoke to was an arrogant man who wouldn't listen to me, talked about me, and as a result, the call probably took longer than he needed. Here's news —when the customer calls and is explaining the problem, it's usually a good idea to listen, as this will speed up the problem resolution process. We appreciate your feedback! We've included our Dish Anywhere app for free with your services, but we definitely understand the frustration with these issues. We can certainly look at any issues that arise if you can chat with us on mydish.com/support/contact, send us a message on Facebook in or send us a Twitter DM @Dish_Answers. You can also send us an email danyprod@dish.com for assistance. Please make sure to include the problem you are experiencing, your device type, device operation version and DISH Anywhere version. This app was perfect before. Now jumping forward or backward while playing is torture. When you push the 30sec arrow forward to jump through the commercials it will freeze the playback, these little red squares start flashing in the middle of the screen, stating that it is doing something and then it will freeze and you have to push the PLAY arrow again. If you have to do this through 3-1/2 minutes of commercials, 7 times, it's frustrating. Sometimes if you hit the front arrow just to the right you can stack the jerks and make it jump forward 90 seconds. The touch area to activate the forward jump is very small - I don't have big fingertips. So if you jump too far forward and want to back up, the 10-second rear arrow is right next to the X coming out of the page. Genius. So now half the time you want to back up 10 seconds you accidentally left all the playback because the X area is much larger and very close to that very small arrow. These arrows used to be prominent and centered near the bottom of the screen with the PLAY/PAUSE switcher between them. It was intuitive and easy to jump back and forth. Please fix it. It's so frustrating to have your show stop and have to reload or hit the PLAY button then try to jump seconds again repeatedly through commercials. So unnecessary when you've had a great setup before. I wish I could use the old app. Thanks for your feedback, Phillier23. We are always looking for ways how to Improve. We'll share this with our team for review and consideration. If you have any problems, please contact us by visiting us on Facebook via Facebook Messenger on and Twitter @DISH_answers.
